

Municipality of Edam-Volendam chooses ERPx from Unit4 for future-proof financial processes

The municipality of Edam-Volendam has chosen ERPx after a tender process. This cooperation means that the municipality can completely redefine its financial processes and is thus ready for any challenge in the (medium) long term. With ERPx, the municipality has a flexible, user-friendly, and future-proof SaaS solution.

Municipality growth

In the last decade, the municipality has gone through many changes. For example, the municipality of Edam-Volendam merged with the municipality of Zeevang in 2016, so they now have ten population centers with more than 36,000 inhabitants under their care. In addition, the decentralization of tasks from the central government to the municipalities has caused significant growth. As a result of this growth, (financial) processes require renewed attention. To achieve this, the municipality of Edam-Volendam was looking for a software supplier that could ensure efficient and streamlined processes.

Implementation already underway

The ERPx implementation process is already in full swing, and this involves applying the best practices that Unit4 has learned from working with other municipalities. This ensures smooth implementation, while also helping to maintain flexibility and follow the path that best suits the municipality.

Nico Plat, Purchasing Director at the municipality of Edam-Volendam: “We started looking for new financial software to prepare us for the future. It was important to us that the software was accessible and user-friendly, so that employees throughout the organization could easily access the parts relevant to them. They should also only have to enter data once which will be automatically shared with other software. ERPx offers all this and fits our vision. We are therefore looking forward to this collaboration!”

Wilfried Teunissen, Public Sector Sales Manager at Unit4: “We are extremely pleased that the municipality of Edam-Volendam has chosen Unit4. This shows once again that our ERPx software fits well with the needs of municipalities. It offers them a modern solution that is flexible and can grow with them. This is very important for the municipality of Edam-Volendam. The municipality’s core values for its processes - uniformity, integrity, and digitalization - are all expressed with the implementation of ERPx. We, therefore, have every confidence that this cooperation is going to be a success.”
